BUSINESS ETHICS

Dates: May 17, 2017 or November 8, 2017

Fee: EASC members - $195.00 per person • Non-members - $235.00 per person

Target Audience: Senior Management, Managers, HR Professionals, Finance Department Employees, Supervisors, and Other Key Office Personnel.

CLASS OVERVIEW: Many employees question if ethical business practices are even possible in a time when government regulations and company policies are very clear that bad behavior in a business environment is prohibited. Scandals and fraud occur every day. Many are never detected until it's too late, and the company has suffered loss of reputation, brand significance, and credibility. This class offers interactive opportunities with experienced professionals who have lived in these types of environments. True stories are great teachers. Learn what bad behavior is, how to identify it, and what to do to correct it before it costs many jobs, financial loss, and stake holders. The focus is on what ethics code can and will do for your organization.
